

Dimitris Daskalopoulos is a business entrepreneur.

He is the Chairman of the Board of the Hellenic Federation of Enterprises (SEV). He is also member of the Board of Directors of the Mytilineos Group of companies. He has served as the chairman of the Federation of Greek Food Industries (1999 – 2006), as board member of the Athens Chamber of Industry and Commerce, as board member of the National Bank of Greece (2002 – 2010) and numerous other business associations and corporations. He has been active as member of the European Round Table of Industrialists (ERT) from 1998 to 2008, the President's Council for International Activities at Yale University from 2004 to 2011, the Young Presidents Organization and the Chief Executives Organization.

As the principal owner, CEO and Chairman, Dimitris Daskalopoulos oversaw since 1983 the transformation of a family dairy business into VIVARTIA S.A., Greece's largest food company, with leading brands in dairy, bakery, frozen foods and restaurants and 13,000 employees in 29 countries. He sold the business in 2007. He is today the Chairman of DAMMA Holdings SA, a financial services and investment company.

He is a collector of contemporary art, member of the Board of Trustees of the Guggenheim Foundation and active in the Tate International Council and the Leadership Council of the New Museum.

Dimitris Daskalopoulos holds a B.A. in Management Studies from the Athens School of Management and an MBA from the Kellogg Graduate School of Management. He is fluent in English and French.